The Prophet Muhammad (Peace Be Upon Him)
liked pumpkin very much.

One day, a tailor invited him and offered a meal of bread and pumpkin soup.

The soup contained pumpkin and beef jerky.

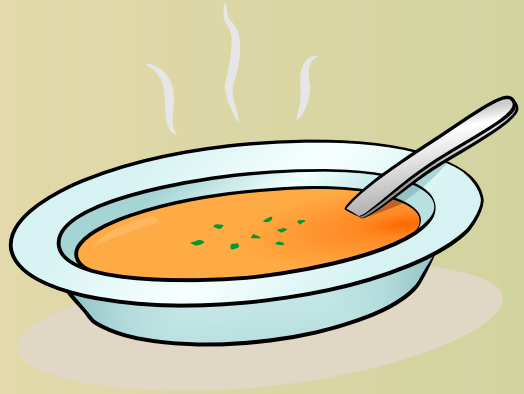

Accompanied by his loyal servant,
Anas Ibn Malik, the Prophet immediately tasted the meal prepared by the tailor.

Anas noticed how the Prophet (peace be upon him) specifically ate the pumpkins that were around the plate.

It seemed that the Prophet (peace be upon him) was very fond of pumpkins.

From then on, Anas, who loved the Prophet (peace be upon him) very much, also became fond of pumpkin.

May we all follow Anas' affection for the Prophet Muhammad (peace be upon him).
